

FIELDNET NextGen™

Unparalleled experience.
Unprecedented control.

A remarkable achievement in irrigation technology from a leader in the field.

- + Lindsay Corporation is a leading global manufacturer of irrigation and infrastructure equipment and technology.
- + FieldNET NextGen™ sets a new standard in irrigation water management by giving growers and agricultural professionals clear, concise analyses of thousands of data points processed in real time.
- + Thousands of hours of real-world use by growers around the globe during a year-long beta test guided the development of the new, intuitive interface.

FIELDNET NextGen™

Conserve your most valuable resource – time.

Easy to use: Intuitive, responsive interface and experience

- + View at-a-glance maps and graphics that provide a comprehensive overview of your irrigation systems and field conditions quickly and accurately.
- + Access critical information effortlessly, make data-driven decisions, and view the data that helps maximize performance.

More informed: Access to intelligent reporting and analytics

- + Artificial Intelligence means Lindsay's platform understands how to use real-time data and learn from historical trends to drive insights and personalized recommendations.
- + More easily conserve water resources and enhance overall operational efficiency with insights and information using real-time and historical data.

Accurate views: More enhanced mapping and visualization

- + Geographically visualize and interact with your irrigation systems and fields with state-of-the-art mapping, including satellite imagery.
- + Pair seamlessly with FieldNET Advisor™ to monitor irrigation patterns, soil moisture levels, and other vital factors influencing irrigation and crop performance with unprecedented precision.

Seamless management: Remote monitoring and control

- + Have peace of mind with complete visibility and control over your irrigation systems with a consolidated single platform, accessible from anywhere, at any time.
- + Easily adjust irrigation settings, swiftly detect and resolve issues, and reduce labor and travel costs – all from your mobile device or desktop.

Visit lindsay.com/fieldnetnextgen for details and watch a quick demo.